

WinMan Technology Platform

Overview

Easily the first fully-integrated ERP solution running in the native Windows environment, WinMan is now one of the first full function ERP products developed 100% on the Microsoft .NET platform. Coupled with Microsoft 's SQL database and Reporting Services, WinMan is bringing the best of its 12 year history of ERP functionality to the latest technology.

The .NET platform, pronounced (" dot net "), is held as the best triumph by Microsoft since the introduction of the Microsoft Windows operating system. .NET is not a new operating system by Microsoft but rather an application platform designed to run applications faster, securely and protected from other applications along with allowing better integration of systems via Internet standards such as XML and SOAP.

Just as the Windows operating system changed how businesses functioned within the walls of organizations, .NET is changing how businesses work beyond the physical location of a facility. .NET is the strategy for connecting systems, devices, information and people via a standard medium, the Internet, through .NET web services.
